

Internal, Inbody, External diff

In head.	In-body	External.
1. js is written inside the <code><head></code> tag	1. JS is written in <code><body></code> tag	1. js is written in separate file
2. it is placed before the body content	2. it is usually placed near the body content	2. it is linked to HTML using <code>src</code> attribute.
3. it is suitable for function and scripts needed before page content.	3. it is suitable for scripts that work with body elements	3. it is suitable for large and professional Projects.
4. code is written directly inside HTML file	4. code is written directly in HTML file	4. code is written separately from HTML file.